

JP GAMES depicts a love story of life and death between Man and a Goddess
A new cutting-edge RPG for adults
Project SHALLAH (tentative name) begins development for worldwide release

JP GAMES, Inc. ("JP GAMES") started development of the new RPG "SHALLAH (tentative name, "SHALLAH")" on February 1, 2024, in response to a request from Quantum Solutions Co., Ltd. ("Quantum Solutions"), an AI development and hardware sales company, to collaborate on the establishment of a game project.

"SHALLAH" is a new RPG project that depicts a fierce battle of magic and sorcery and a love story between a human and a goddess in an epic world that incorporates the tale of One Thousand and One Nights. JP GAMES will be responsible for the overall planning and development, and will develop the game using its own middleware, "PEGASUS WORLD KIT." Quantum Solutions will own the "SHALLAH" IP and will provide all the support necessary to maximize JP Games' strengths in content development based on their superior worldview design, technology, and game design.

■ Hajime Tabata, CEO of JP Games, Inc. commented as follows:

"Quantum Solutions has recently offered to work with us on a joint game project, and we have started development of the RPG "SHALLAH," which we have been planning for some time. I will be involved in both the development and business aspects of the project as a producer. The game will be officially announced when it is more fully developed, and it will be JP Games' first full-fledged major title, so please stay tuned."

■ Mark Pink, President of Quantum Solutions, Co., Ltd. commented as follows:

"AI/Quantum computing is highly compatible with games and will be able to change character behavior in real time, providing a more challenging gameplay experience for players. As well, AI will be able to recognize player emotions and provide appropriate reactions to the game play for a more immersive experience. AI x Quantum Computing will be a huge leap forward in game development, and I am thrilled to be working with JP GAMES to co-develop SHALLAH.
